

Formulating Research Questions

Due on Tuesday, January 15 at 4:30pm

For homework, write and restructure your personal research question so that you can perform an activity similar to that performed in class today on your own work. Be sure to think about the 'states' and 'processes' inherent in your system as you craft your question.

Bring your research question to tomorrow's small group session, 'Refining research questions', at 4:30pm
