

Formulating Research Questions

Due on Tuesday, January 15 at 4:30pm

For homework, make any further adjustments to your research question that seem appropriate after hearing your partner's interpretation of your research. You can adopt their language if you feel they have done a particularly good job of wording your question so it can be understood by those outside your field of study.

Bring your edited question to tomorrow's small group session, 'Refining research questions for modeling', at 4:30pm
